Part 3: How to convert Blu-ray movies to other formats Blu-ray movies contained onto Blu-ray Discs use M2TS video as their video format. These M2TS video files are also known as Blu-ray BDAV video files, which are representative of Blu-ray Disc Audio-Video. For M2TS video files, it is also important to note that they are often associated with MODD files from Sony camcorders. The M2TS video format is uncompressed, which explains why Blu-ray movies are of very high quality. In the present day, Blu-ray movies or the M2TS video format are still not natively supported on operating systems like macOS, iOS or Android, albeit you could use a third-party software like Leawo Blu-ray Player to open them. Still, you can always convert Blu-ray movies to video formats that are widely supported on any operating system. It is a fact that there are many video converters that can do the conversion jobs easily for you, but we believe Leawo Video Converter Ultimate is your best bet. It can easily handle most audio and video files without hurdles. First and most important is that over 180 video and audio formats are supported, which basically means you are empowered to convert almost all video and audio types. Second and also important is the fact that lossless conversion is guaranteed, as you can easily retain 100% of the original quality when you do a conversion job. Third is the conversion speed, which is about 6x faster conversion, after all nobody wants to wait a long time for a conversion job to finish. It comes packed with advanced, but easy to use editing tools for output which include trimming, watermarking, noise removal and the very impressive 2D to 3D video conversion technology. Both Windows and Mac OS are supported, therefore download and install it to begin. Free Download Free Download Step 1: Import the video file(s) The first interface of the software will show you the included 4 modules. Click "Video Converter", and either drag the Blu-ray M2TS video file(s) into the main program, or click "Add Video". You can also have a preview of the videos as soon as you import them. Step 2: Set your preferred video format for output From where you can see your imported videos, click "MP4 Video" (Please note that this button changes depending on the profile selected). Click "Change" and under the from the various tabs included, choose a video format of your choice, for example HD MP4 or MOV video formats. Note: If you click the "Edit" button, you will be taken to the manual settings, where you can customize the codecs, output quality, the resolution etc. for both audio and video files.
